

RODGERS OPPOSES SEPARATE CORPS

DEBT SETTLEMENT UP TO CONGRESS

PROPOSAL SOLVES CONTROVERSY FOR TERM OF FIVE YEARS

Ratification Of Plan Will Give U. S. Forty Millions Yearly

Washington, Oct. 2.—A provisional five year truce on settlement of the $4,200,000,000 French debt of the United States will be laid before congress and the French parliament as the sole result of eight days of stormy negotiations here between the American and French debt funding commissions.

If ratified by both France will pay to the United States $40,000,000 a year for the next five years. At the end of that time, the question of full payment of the debt will be re-opened, if not before.

"The total payments offered imply a return of the principal of the debt and somewhat less than one per cent per annum," the American Commission informed Caillaux.

Then, without further attempting to get Caillaux to raise the offer, the Americans proposed their five year truce.

The negotiations opened on Sept. 24, with an offer by the French of payments as follows:

$25,000,000 a year for five years;
$30,000,000 a year for the next five years; $60,000,000 for the next ten years and $90,000,000 for the last 42 years.

The Americans rejected this as inadequate and countered with substantially the British terms of full repayment of principal with interest at 3-1/2 per cent.

The French replied by reiterating their original proposal, which the Americans again rejected.

The Americans, however, in the interest of a settlement, made a new offer, consolidating the entire debt, making an outright gift of $200,000,000 accrued interest and fixing the total funded principal at $4,025,000,000 with repayment in 62 years interest being fixed at one-half percent the first year and for the succeeding 12 years an increase in the interest rate of one-fourth of one-percent each year. After the thirteenth year the entire loan would bear 3-1/2 per cent.

Caillaux replied to this by boosting his original offer so that France would contemplate payments of $6,220,000,000 over a period of 65 years. This figured out coldly would mean that France actually would pay back to the United States government only $3,341,000,000 borrowed from us and interest payments would be at an annual rate of only one percent.

This stop-gap "basis of settlement" was proposed to the French mission by the American commission yesterday when the negotiations stood at the brink of failure and was accepted by Joseph Caillaux, minister of finance of France with the plain statement that he could not agree to it, but would submit it to the French government. Caillaux left Washington for France by train at New York at 7:45 a. m. today.

The negotiations failed of their major objective which was full and final settlement of the whole debt, but members of the American Commission say that the negotiations cannot be considered entirely a failure.

If the proposal fails of ratification either in congress or in the French parliament, the status of the debt is identical with what it was before Minister Caillaux came to the United States and the negotiations in this case would have ended in complete failure.

The administration is expected to recommend ratification of the tentative settlement when congress convenes this winter, because it was advanced in good faith by the American side as a temporary arrangement for disposition of the debt question.

The $40,000,000 annual payment is to be considered as full annual interest on the entire French debt each year the temporary arrangement runs, constituting, as the American commission points out, about one per cent annual interest on the whole obligation.

But the French already are paying $20,000,000 a year interest on the $407,000,000 surplus war supplies debt so that the additional $20,000,000 received amounts to only a little over one-half of one percent on the remaining $3,800,000,000.

The negotiations reached an impasse yesterday when the Americans informed the French they could not accept a payment of $40,000,000 a year for five years; $60,000,000 for the next seven years and $100,000,000 for the 56 ensuing years, or a total of $6,220,000,000.

First S-51 Victims Brought Up

With the crew of the Camden, mother ship of the rammed S-51, standing at attention, two of the victims of the crash were carried aboard, and later taken ashore at New London after their bodies had been removed from the wreck by divers.

BODY FROM ILL-FATED SUBMARINE THROWN ON CONNECTICUT BEACH

Divers Attempting To Force Entrance To Engine Room
For Other Bodies—Chance Million To One
To Find Any Alive

U. S. Submarine Base (New London, Conn., Oct. 2.—The body of an officer, or chief officer, believed to have been from the ill-fated submarine S-51 was cast up by the waters near Stonington, Conn., today.

The submarine base here sent an ambulance to bring the boy here.

This was the first instance of a corpse being found since the S-51 was rammed last Friday night though two bodies were taken out earlier this week, from within the hull.

The health records here will be examined to obtain identification of the body.

Meantime, divers working about the S-51 today were cutting their way into the engine room in the hope of finding further bodies.

Only the motor room astern and the torpedo room forward had yet to be tested for their contents. That they are full of water is deemed certain.

Today divers were to be penetrated within the engine room, sawing their way in by means of underwater torches. Out of this recess, they anticipate they would bring at least four more bodies to join those of John L. Gibson and William C. Teschemacher.

Actual conversion of the operations into salvage—actual floating of the boat with her dead—a lengthy operation, was expected to be ordered next week. Out of the hoisting operations yesterday came a story of simple courage on the part of Commander Christy.

The Monarch, straining beneath the hoisting, was partly submerged. "It won't budge" said wrecking master James Davis of the Merritt Chapman Company.

"Give her another notch" shouted Christy.

"Well, everybody get off, for this cable may break or the derrick sink" retorted the wrecking master, unheeding the Admiral's gold braid and authority.

There was a scurrying to get off. But the Admiral remained.

"I'll see it through" he remarked, even though there was grave danger that his action might cost his life.

The operation went on. The cranes sank dangerously and the cables strained. Only the fact that the slings slashed a great cut in the outer hull of the stern prevented what the wrecking master had warned of.

Believe Robber Expert In Jewels Followed Mrs. James P. Donahue's Gems From Europe—Pearls Here Only Twenty Four Hours

New York, Oct. 2.—A European thief who followed two rose-pink pearls across the Atlantic was hunted today in the theft of jewelry variously valued at from $500,000 to $750,000 from Mrs. James P. Donahue, daughter of the late Frank W. Woolworth, five and ten cent store founder.

Police Commissioner Richard Enright took direct control of the case upon which a large force of detectives, including city, hotel and insurance company agents, have begun investigation.

The fact that the two largest pearls in one of the necklaces stolen from the Donahue suite in the Hotel Plaza had arrived from Paris only twenty-four hours before the robbery, led police to the theory that the jewels were followed from abroad.

The thieves accurately timed the robbery to ten or 20 minutes when Mrs. Donahue was in her bath Thursday and displayed a shrewd knowledge of jewels. They discarded four ropes of imitation pearls, which were so perfect as to confuse even an expert.

The necklaces, a large diamond ring and some comparatively minor trinkets, made up the loot which was fully insured.

The two pearls were strung by Cartier a few hours before the robbery.

Police believe the thief may have known of their destination and seized the opportunity to obtain them.

Commissioner Enright and Inspector Coughlin called upon Donahue and conferred for two hours. They would not announce what line of investigation will be followed.

During the brief time Mrs. Donahue was away from the room the door to the Donahue suite was ajar, the French maid told police. She closed the door but did not speak of it to her mistress.

After her bath, Mrs. Donahue lay down for a rest before being treated by a masseuse. Two hours later Donahue came home and it was around 7 o'clock when the loss of the jewels was discovered.

Miss Annals Lounagne, the maid, John Gerard Seghers, valet to Donahue and June Gard the masseuse were being questioned by Inspector Coughlin, but he said he had not learned anything as yet that would warrant holding them.

The photographs and histories of the jewels have been sent to police on this continent and to Paris and to London.

Since Mrs. Donahue but recently returned from Monte Carlo she was accustomed to wearing considerable jewelry and may have inspired a thief to close watch of her daily movements so that he could find opportunity for the robbery.

COLLECTION OF GAS TAX FOR SEPTEMBER MORE THAN MILLION

Swells Aggregate To Six
Millions For the Year
To Date

Columbus, O., Oct. 2.—September gasoline tax collections will bring the total collections for the year to $6,252,758. State Auditor Tracy estimated today. September collections will aggregate $1,320,000 Tracy declared a slight reduction under the August total.

Less than half the gas tax revenue collected since the new law became effective, has been distributed for highway and street repair, Tracy said.

The total distributed to date is $3,072,337. Of this the highway department received $1,559,436, the municipalities $911,401 at the rate of $1 for each automobile registered in 1924 and the counties $572,000, each receiving $6,500.

Tracy said $26,000 had been refunded as tax on gasoline not used for automobiles.

The gas tax fund balance in the state treasury, including a portion of the September collections, totals $994,342.93. This is held pending distribution, planned during the next two weeks.

Data compiled by the Tax Commission up to Sept. 1, showed that Ohio motorists have used an average of 1,761,710 gallons of gasoline daily since the law became effective. This is an aggregate average daily tax of $35,234.20, since April 17.

Total gasoline consumption by motor cars up to Sept. 1, was 246,639,446 gallons.

Collection of the taxes is costing $1,000 a month, Tracy said.

News of the temporary agreement reached in Washington late Thursday afternoon for settlement of the French debt, was carried in the Evening Gazette exclusively in this territory. Metropolitan morning newspapers followed the story Friday morning.

The "beat" scored by The Evening Gazette is an example of news service furnished by this paper that occurs frequently. Direct service from a world-wide news gathering organization enables this paper to frequently beat all other papers coming into Xenia which illustrates the fact that The Evening Gazette and The Morning Republican give readers the advantage of information on all world-wide events as well as complete coverage on all Greene County news.

INJUNCTION HALTS OUSTING OF WOMEN WHO OWES KLAN DUES

Removes Authority of Ohio Officers Pending Outcome of Suit

Columbus, Oct. 2.—A temporary injunction today restrained state officials of the women of the Ku Klux Klan from ousting 3,000 Franklin county members who refused to pay dues, charging national leaders had squandered the Klan funds.

The court order temporarily shears Ohio officers of all authority pending decision in a suit filed in Little Rock, Ark., against Mrs. Robbie Gill Comer, who claims she is Imperial Commander and her husband, Judge James A. Comer.

The suit here was filed by Mrs. Flora Alexander, a member of the Franklin County organization who named Mrs. Jessie H. McCreary, Ohio Imperial representative.

The Franklin county branch recently passed resolutions refusing to pay further dues and refusing to accept orders of Ohio officers until the Little Rock case is disposed of. Mrs. Comer, through Mrs. McCreary then attempted to have the Franklin County charter withdrawn, Mrs. Alexander resisting the attempt.

POSTAL RECEIPTS SHOWING DECREASE

Receipts at the Xenia Post Office showed a slight decrease during the month of September from the corresponding month in 1924, according to the monthly report of Postmaster C. S. Frazer.

Receipts during September, 1925, amounted to $3,266.24 as compared with receipts during the same month last year totalling $3,934.75. This is a decrease of $668.51, the report shows. Postal receipts are derived from the sale of stamps, stamped paper, envelopes and other mail material.

Paszka brought suit and won and the coal company appealed. The seventh district court of appeal upheld Paszka's claim that he did not assume his wife's debts when he married her. The company again appealed and the supreme court will hear arguments.

FLIGHT COMMANDER ON HAWAIIAN TRIP SPRINGS SURPRISE

Amateur Is Also, Against
Mitchell Unified Air
Plan

Washington, Oct. 2.—Opposition to a separate air corps in the navy was voiced today before the special aircraft board by Commander John Rodgers, commander of the unsuccessful Hawaiian flight of the PN-9-1.

Rodgers was given a tremendous ovation by the crowd when he entered the committee room.

Rodgers also opposed the Mitchell unified air service plan. "The unified proposal, he said, would defeat the chief advantage that it purports to gain namely control of air planes by air officers."

Rodgers sprung a surprise when he testified in contradiction to the seven naval aviators who advocated the separate corps plan as the only remedy for existing "deplorable" conditions.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The plight of the naval aviators who participated in the unsuccessful non-stop sea-plane flight from the Pacific Coast to Hawaii will be portrayed today to the special aircraft board.

Commander John Rodgers, who commanded the PN-9-1, expedition was summoned to appear today.

If Rodgers completes his testimony before noon several other naval aviators will be called to testify on the present condition of the service and offer suggestions for improvements.

The board then plans to adjourn until Monday.

Although no official explanation has come for Colonel "Billy" Mitchell's sudden summons to the War Department yesterday, the opinion was expressed in some quarters that it was a formal move to order him back to his post in Texas.

It is understood that Chairman Morrow will ask that Mitchell be permitted to remain here long enough to complete the preparation of voluminous statistical data they have asked him to "insert in the record."

Rear Admiral William S. Sims required, battleship critic is expected to appear before the board about Oct. 15. Sims came to Mitchell's defense.

POSTMASTER WILL INSPECT BOXES ON RURAL ROUTES SOON

Postmaster C. S. Frazer will begin his semi-annual inspection of all rural mail boxes and mail routes leading from Xenia early in October, he announced Friday. Two inspections are made each year, one in April and the second in October.

Postmaster Frazer estimates ten days will be required to perform the inspection. There are ten routes and Postmaster Frazer intends to personally inspect one each day.

A check will be made of all 1,400 boxes and approaches leading to them. All boxes must be of the uniform type and in first class condition.

Both the boxes and posts to which they are attached should be painted white, with the resident's name inscribed on one side and should be placed on the side of the road traveled by the carrier.

AIR MAIL PILOT IS LOST IS LEARNED

Cleveland, O., Oct. 2.—Charles Ames, Cleveland air mail pilot is lost somewhere in Pennsylvania, according to semi-official advices received from Bellefonte, Pa.

Ames was attempting to bring the night mail through from New York. He began the flight at 9:58 p.m. and was last heard when he soared over Hartleton, Pa., at 11:33 p.m. advices stated.

Ames presumably disappeared somewhere between Bellefonte and Hartleton. Bellefonte is 20 miles from Hartleton.

The night was foggy and air mail officials here fear Ames may have been killed. The Bellefonte section is the most dangerous territory crossed in the New York to Cleveland flight, they said.

Search for Ames was handicapped today by continued fog, other dispatches said.

The aviator is a former war ace and one of the veterans of the Cleveland air mail service.

FOURTH CITY TITLE SERIES GAME WILL BE PLAYED SUNDAY

Sunday afternoon at Washington Park the city series will swing into action if the weather permits. The Reserves and Merchants will meet in the fourth game of the series.

The Merchants have won two games while the Reserves have won one. In the event the Merchants win Sunday the series will be over and they will be champs while if the Chambliss nine defeats the east end gang a fifth game will be necessary. The games played have been close and interesting and have been witnessed by large crowds. There is every reason to believe the game Sunday will be tight as it is important to both clubs.

The Reserves have added two new outfielders from the Dayton Racers. Powers will probably pitch while Randall will catch him. Powers pitched a nice game against the Merchants two weeks ago but his support was what lost the game for him.

The Merchants will have the same team excepting Harding will play shortstop instead of Brown. Harding is one of the best shortstops around these parts and besides playing for Wilberforce last spring he played the short field for the Chicago Giants, one of the best colored league teams around the Windy City. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock with 35 cents admission to all.

SECOND FOOT BALL WE EK WILL TEST CALIBRE OF MANY BIG COLLEGE TEAMS SATURDAY

After long periods of intensive training, a number of eleven throughout the country are keyed up to the highest pitch of efficiency in preparation for their first grid contests of the season Saturday.

Interest is centered upon more than one eleven Saturday, as several will later participate in sectional games while other eleven are confronted with important games in their own territory, the results of which will go a long way toward determining the strength of favored teams with some degree of certainty.

Some idea of the strength of Pennsylvania may be gained in the game with Swarthmore Saturday. Pennsylvania is expected to be strong again this year and is faced with a stiff schedule calling for contests with Yale, Chicago and Illinois on successive weeks.

Dartmouth, last year's sensation in the East, which comes West November 14 for an intercollegiate combat with Coach Stagg's Chicago eleven, will play Hobart a preparatory game at Newburgh Saturday.

Among other important contests, Notre Dame's showing Saturday against the strong Lombard eleven will be watched with more than passing interest. Coach Rockne's inexperienced team showed unexpected strength in beating Baylor 41 to 0 last week and the loss of the "Four Horsemen" of last year is evidently not being felt.

Georgia Tech and Penn State, which will later meet Notre Dame, will play V. M. I. and Franklin-Marshal respectively Saturday. Strength of Gil Dobie's 1925 Cornell eleven will not be determined in the game with Niagara. Pittsburgh will face a tough opponent in Lafayette. The game will be the second to be played in Pittsburgh's new $2,000,000 athletic stadium.

Brown meets its rival Colby. The traditional "Big Three" of the East—Yale, Harvard and Princeton will begin their seasons with comparatively easy opponents. Yale faces Middlebury, Harvard plays Rensselaer and Princeton opposes Amherst.

The United States Military and Naval Academies will open with Detroit and William-Mary, respectively.

The football season in the Western Conference among the Big Ten opens Saturday with the Illinois-Nebraska game at Urbana holding the center of the stage. Ohio State plays Ohio Wesleyan, Michigan State meets Michigan Aggies, Chicago opens with Kentucky. Wisconsin has a game with Iowa State, Minnesota meets North Dakota, Purdue faces Wabash and Indiana meets Indiana Normal.

In the Ohio Conference, conference games will be played by Wooster against Case and Wittenberg against Denison. Muskingum meets Capital in a non-conference contest. Ohio University plays Rio Grande, Dayton University meets Wilmington, Earlham plays Defiance while Western Reserve meets Hiram.

In the far West the most important games scheduled are the California-Nevada contest and Pomona-University of Southern California game.

ALARM WAS MISTAKEN
Policemen rallied around hurriedly when the burglar alarm at the Commercial and Savings Bank, Main and Detroit Streets, sounded at 10:45 o'clock Wednesday night. Patrolmen Jones, Craig and Robinson, Motorcycle Policeman Shagin and Merchant Policeman Charles Phillips, investigated to find a false alarm. Imperfect construction is believed to have caused the bell to ring when there was no one in the bank.

A. E. Faulkner, West Second Street, cashier, was called to the bank to halt the clamorous tones of the bell while late pedestrians who gathered in the expectation of finding a robbery in process, dispersed.

One large sized skillet which has no cracks in it. Three Free Lunch Counters with old-fashioned equipment. One Corn Husker with popcorn attachment.

With these Xmas presents, I feel certain I can worry through another year here with Doc. Life gets awful dull at times being a celebrity like I am and folks hold back from getting acquainted feeling that maybe I'll call 'em "climbers."

Must Be Read SLOWLY, Digested THOUGHT-FULLY And Laid Away CAREFULLY!

Modest as I am and brutally hating the spotlight, cigarettes, garlic and pant belts as I do, yet there has come a time when I feel that it is necessary for me in the interest of this community to speak PLAINLY to the farmers of this county. If you want to sprinkle salt on any thing I say here, I will be pleased to pass same to you.

Tuesday morning at 8:27 a. m. Paul Creswell, our beaming Deputy Auditor, brought in from his farm out on Federal Pike, a stalk of corn on which 8 ft. 6 inches up from the root there had grown an ear of corn! Shooting his cuffs, he stated that he wished to place this stalk on exhibition in our store. He further stated he had many acres of corn each stalk equally high!

Before he left he casually mentioned that he wanted to order 10 saddles with high pommels and wanted delivery AT ONCE! Then he went out!

All Tuesday morning I wore a tight-fitting hat in an effort to figure out WHAT he aimed to do with them saddles. I talked it over with Jack in the back room and while some of Jack's theories on saddles were interesting and unusual, I felt at the end of the conference that we wasn't getting any place. I thought that MEBBE Paul was figgerin' on invading Mexico or Canada (reasons not stated) and wanted the saddles to outfit a troop.

Jack suggested that mebbe Paul had punctured a tire and was going to use the saddles (plus one horse) to get to and from work. Finally a BIG IDEA hit me! I'LL ASK PAUL what he's going to do with these saddles!

So I strode over to Paul's office, and in a subtle, indifferent, ritzy tone I says: "WHY THE SADDLES?"

"I'm using them to harvest my corn crop," says Paul. "I aim to get 10 men on 16 hand highhorses to pluck this high corn of mine. Each man has one saddle on one horse, the horse being hitched to a wagon. As the rider picks, he tosses on back to the wagon until he gets a load!"

I says: "Where you going to get 10 men in Xenia who are experienced in this sort of work?"

Paul just laughed and says: "I've gottem all hired NOW! Here's the list! And derned if he didn't hand me this list. Can you tie it?"

Ralph Wead, Charley Whitmer, C. E. Arbogast, Morris Sharp, Mel Beal (gosh!) T. H. Zell and Pete Fisher. I've hired Jake over at Dock Sayre's to bring over one of the new picture making machines and I'm going out next week and get a portrait of that gang PICKIN' corn! Be in our store window week following if Jake gets results. These are great days!

Cordially,
MACK

Pardon ME!

Just to remind you, I rise to state that the field on which this corn of Paul's grew was FIRST broken by a McD Tractor Plow, SECONDLY disked by a McD Disk Harrow, THIRDLY planted with a J. I. Case Planter and FOURTHLY cultivated by a McD two-row Cultivator. After reading which, you can write THAT on your cuff!

Sutton Twins Still Enjoying Panic!

Last reports from the police state that both Harry and Verne have walled themselves up in a deserted cabin out near Port William. Besieged by buyers, they took the only course open to them in order to get a few minits sleep. Governor promises troops to help show off prospective buyers in case local constabulary fail. Situation critical!

They're gone—GONE!
GONE is what I mean!
The speed of these dudes is turrible! The way they bust in on my time, take my typewriter away from me and cop all my space in this ad gives me a pain that even Doc Sayre can't cure! Four of 'em busted in at once today each with an idea of some sort each wanting the typewriter! I had to hunt a rafter for safety! Thought it was a fire at first!

SYNOPSIS

Bob Mannering, with Diane Blescoe and another couple, are driving to Calkin's Inn after the close of a country club dance celebrating Bob's twenty-first birthday. Bob is at the wheel with Diane leaning over him when the car crashes into a roadster, injuring a woman. The party is taken to a police station, where the sergeant is trying to fix responsibility. Meanwhile, Mrs.
Mannering and Margaret Patterson, who is in love with Bob, are following.

CHAPTER V—Continued

"All right. I haven't time for your life's history now." A new emphasis crept into the sergeant's tones. "But there was something wrong in that car long before you hit the roadster. The motorcycle policeman's report proves it. He trailed you for several miles. He says you were all over the road and nearly in the ditch a dozen times. What I want to know is, who was driving?"

For an instant Theo seemed upon the point of speaking. Then, with an effort, he sealed his lips, opening them only when the keen gaze of the sergeant seemed to bore into his innermost soul, to mutter nervously, if ungrammatic-ally, "It wasn't me, sir, no, sir, it wasn't me."

Now the stern gaze of the sergeant shifted to rest upon Diane.
Bereft of her usual coolness and composure, she seemed to shrink, a trembling, terrified girl, under its severity.

"Were you?" he demanded.
Apparently she could not meet his eyes. Her own swept the ed as he faced his son.

room as if in frantic search of aid in her plight. Suddenly she shook her head wildly.

"No, no!" she cried. Then, quick as a flash, turned upon Bob,
and her accusation rang out unmistakable in its clearness. "He was!"

Again that same air of perplexity seemed to have claimed Bob.
At her words he turned towards her and looked straight into her eyes. It was a strange look.
There was bewilderment and pain in it. The world had changed so suddenly for him. His happy, care-free life seemed very far away.

But she, who had merely related a fact, seemed to flinch and quail under his glance, the poise and self assurance which had been such a part of her being forgotten.

With never a word Bob turned from her.

And still, as if not fully satisfied with what she had done, Diane turned back to Theo and grew almost hysterical in the persistence of her accusation.

"It was he, it was Bob who was driving! Wasn't it, Theo? You know he was driving, don't you, Theo?"

Under her questions Theo shifted nervously upon his feet, shot a frightened glance at Bob and finally stared at the stern visage of the officer of the law as if fascinated.

"Yes—it was—" His voice trailed off into a whisper.

As if satisfied, the sergeant frowned and gave his attention to Bob.

"If that woman dies, Mannering, it will take all of your pull to get you out of this mess."

"Dies!" It was as if Bob could not believe his ears. Indeed, as if there were very much about the situation in which he found himself which he could not reconcile.
Now a sudden movement of the sergeant and a sound from the door attracted his attention.

John Mannering entered. Plainly shaken by anxiety, his face was ghastly white, and he paused for an instant as if to collect himself for the ordeal which was to follow. Then he moved forward, to stop before Bob and gaze into his face.

Yet such was his emotion that he seemed at a loss for words.
What thoughts were his at the moment? Inured by the experience of years to similar scenes amidst such surroundings, the meaning of it all must have recurred to him with redoubled force.

Here was the machinery of the law erected by the people of the state for their own protection, just as he had been chosen by these same people as their sworn representative in the enforcement of their laws. To him these proceedings had always had a solemn majesty, his part in their equitable application a solemn trust. His to see that the clear course of justice was unswerving, its penalties applied without fear or favor. Yet now, within the very shadow of the law, with its arm clutches poised above him, stood his son—the pride of his heart, the hope of his coming years.

Within him John Mannering's high sense of justice, his cold, judicial mind was arrayed against his heart; his professional honor was set off against his parental love. And even more, for there was Eileen, his own beloved, to whom the welfare and happiness of the boy was dearer than life itself.

Under such circumstances it was not strange that John Mannering's lips were sealed as he faced his son. What words could express his thoughts? What sentences could picture the battle waging within his breast?

Yet even amidst the turmoil of feeling which shook him he must have taken pride in the bearing of his son. For at that moment Bob carried himself bravely and met the gaze of his father unflinchingly.

Only for a moment did John hesitate before his son. He moved towards the sergeant, his face grim and resolute. Leaning towards that official, he was again a lawyer, the chosen representative of the people considering the facts laid before him calmly and dispa-sionately and, most remarkable of all under the circumstances, impersonally.

So he was engaged when again
the door was opened and Eileen appeared.

"Bob!" she cried at sight of her son, and again, "Bob!" Heedless of all else in the room, she rushed towards him with outstretched arms.

He stiffened, flushing hotly at sight of her, but as she reached him and gathered him in her arms he yielded promptly to her embrace.

So she clasped him to her breast, giving expression to countless, inarticulate expressions of endearment and patting him fondly upon the back.

Suddenly she drew back and gazed anxiously into his face.

"You are not hurt, Bob?"

He shook his head.

"But in that awful wreck how did you ever manage to escape without a scratch?"

"I don't know," he whispered huskily.

"It was marvelous—it seems almost too good to be true. All the way here I have been thinking, picturing the most dreadful things which might have happened to you, dear—fearing to find you hurt in some awful way. Perhaps it would be just as well if we had a doctor look you over—there might be internal injuries?"

"I haven't a scratch, mother, honestly."

Once more she enfolded him in her arms. Her son was safe and sound. Beside the wonder of her relief over that fact all else mattered little. But now, as she released him, she seemed to give some thought to his surroundings and to her husband at the police sergeant's desk.

"Did you ever hear of such a narrow escape as Bob had, John?" she asked.

"It was marvelous," he agreed, but there was a curious restraint in his manner as he spoke.

"The mere shock of such an experience must have been terrible," she continued.

CENTENNIAL OF YELLO W SPRINGS AND MIAMI TWP. SCHOOLS OBSE RVED ON ANNIVERSARY

One of the biggest days in the history of Yellow Springs and one in which the townspeople take pride was the centennial celebration of the public schools in Miami Township held Thursday.

The celebration was sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association of the township schools and the members put forth every effort to make the affair a success. The morning was taken up with the arrival of visitors and preparations for the noon dinner. Covers were laid for 350 people at a delicious chicken repast, on the Means lawn.

The afternoon program included addresses, music and other features. Thurman "Dusty" Miller, Wilmington newspaper man and prominent humorist, delivered the main address. He stressed the value of the community spirit and his address was replete with humorous anecdotes. "Co-operation" of community residents was the keynote of his talk and he laid emphasis on the power of trying to work together.

R. O. Wead, county auditor, who served as superintendent of schools in Miami Township fourteen years was another speaker of the day. He recalled his work in the community and commended the fine spirit of the people with whom he worked. He spoke of the tolerant and co-operative spirit of the community, as he had to work with all classes, races and creeds, he said. He laid the tolerant spirit to the "education of the people."

H. C. Aultman, county superintendent of schools, spoke briefly during the program. Music was furnished during the dinner hour by the Yellow Springs High School orchestra.

O. A. Barr presided over the afternoon's program, and read a history of the schools in the village and township, first of which were founded Oct. 1, 1825 before the village was formed. The history showed a coincidence in that in 1849 there were 250 pupils in the township and now there are also 250 pupils in the township, including 170 in the village and 80 in the township schools. The township clerk in those days was the school superintendent and in all his reports to the trustees, according to the records, he complained that discipline in the schools was not good. In one case he referred to a blackboard in one of the schools and recommended that all schools be similarly provided. Three vocal solos were given by Earl Littleton.

A special feature of the occasion was the presentation of the Yellow Springs News garden and lawn contest prizes. Mrs. C. C. Stephenson won the silver loving cup and grand prize of $25 for the best all-year garden and lawn. Other prizes were awarded to Mrs. Arthur E. Morgan, Miss Esther Corry, Mrs. C. F. Zavits, Mrs. S. D. Fess, Mrs. A. C. Stretcher, Mrs. Charles W. Putnam and Elmer Jacobs, 10, the only child who won a prize and who was given a camera and the start of a bank account.

Members of the township P. T. A. had the co-operation of students of the Antioch Academy, under the direction of Mr. Zavits, superintendent. The girls' together with high school students, waited table and the boys of the academy and high school acted as "scouts" during the day.

The P. T. A. cleared about $125.00 from the affair, which will be used to carry on the work of the organization in the township schools.

MRS. REUTINGER SELLS INSURANCE AGENCY TO FRED ANDERSON

The purchase of the Clara G. Reutinger insurance agency, one of the largest agencies in the county, by Frederick Anderson, of the D. E. Anderson Insurance agency, was announced Friday.

The Reutinger agency will be absorbed by the Anderson company and the offices of the former company in the Wilson Block, South Detroit Street moved to the Anderson offices on West Main Street.

Mrs. Reutinger will be connected with the Anderson company for several weeks after the transfer, she said Friday. Miss Katherine Buckles and Miss Edna Wolf, who have occupied the offices with Mrs. Reutinger, have announced no plans for the future.

The T. C. Long Loan and Realty offices in the Wilson Block, will be moved to the Anderson offices on West Main Street, Mr. Long announced in connection with the business change.

Mrs. Reutinger has operated the third largest insurance agency in Xenia, writing for twenty-two companies. She purchased the agency in 1918 from W. C. Fitzpatrick, who operated the agency a year after he purchased it from T. C. Long. Mr. Long established the agency in 1910.

Mrs. Reutinger enlarged the business after she purchased the agency and took over the B. Schlesinger agency in July, 1920. At the time she bought the agency she wrote insurance for fourteen companies and added eleven companies to her business after taking over the Schlesinger agency, discontinuing three companies later.

Mr. Anderson has operated the Anderson agency since the death of his father, D. E. Anderson. With the combining of the two agencies the company will be one of the largest insurance organizations in the county.

EVERETT GROCERY IS SOLD THURSDAY

Joshua B. Everett, who has conducted a grocery store at Trumbull Street and Allison Avenue for thirteen years, has sold the business to his daughter, Mrs. A. W. Shaw, the deal being closed Thursday.

Mrs. Shaw will operate the business in the future. Mr. Everett is now a field representative of the American Rescue Workers and will leave room for the South and Southwest for that order. He will attend a council of the organization in Dayton this week.

BAYLIFFS TO PLAY LAST CONTEST WITH MELVIN ON SUNDAY

As a result of enforced idleness caused by threatening weather last Sunday, members of the Bowersville Bayliff baseball nine are practicing doubly hard to be on edge for what will probably be the last home game of the season with Melvin Sunday afternoon at Bowersville.

The Bayliffs have experienced an in and out season this year, but after a poor get-away at the beginning of the year, are showing true form in most of the games played.

The Bayliffs managed to inflict a 11 to 10 defeat on Melvin earlier in the season and hope that this victory may be repeated Sunday.

The Bayliffs have been idle for two weeks since Thurman "Brownie" Wical returned to his old haunts to pitch a no hit, no run game for his former teammates.

Whether Wical can be prevailed upon to pitch the Melvin game in the hope of duplicating his former feat is uncertain, but the Bayliffs are able to rely on Shadley, who recently pitched them to six straight victories.

The Bayliff management announces the challenge extended jointly to the Xenia Reserves and Xenia Merchants for a game to be played in Xenia for the county baseball championship remains open, although no answer has been forthcoming. The Reserves and Merchants are fighting it out for the city title.

GAUTHIER PRAISES OHIO STATE ELEVEN

Delaware, O., Oct. 2—Coach George Gauthier, of Ohio Wesleyan rates the Ohio State football team as the best developed by Dr. Wilce since he last won a Western Conference championship.

"Some of the finest football material in the United States is assembled on the Ohio State squad," Gauthier declared today in discussing the State-Wesleyan game to be played at Columbus Saturday.

"Any coach would be delighted to work with these excellent players and I am confident that Dr. Wilce will develop this material into an eleven that will make a great battle for Western conference honors.

"I expect my men to meet the finest Ohio State team a Wesleyan squad has ever gone against," Gauthier said. "All this talk about expecting defeat and saving Wesleyan's team for Ohio conference games is wrong dope. Ohio

COLUMBUS FESTIVAL OF GRAND OPERA TO START WEDNESDAY

Many lovers of good music in Xenia have announced their intention of making a pilgrimage to Memorial Hall at Columbus during the Grand Opera festival October 7, 8 and 9. Some of the patrons to the opera season in Columbus last fall, greatly pleased with the performances, intend to see one or possibly all of the three operas "Aida," "Samson et Dalila" and "The Barber of Seville," to be sung in the respective order of dates named above.

According to Mrs. Floyd Locke Smith, promoter of the festival, the operas will excel, both in artistry and spectacularism, the operas of last fall. More money is being spent, for the best singers available, for an orchestra of symphonic proportions and for ballet dancers to round out the productions. Noteworthy is the fact that Isaac Van Grove, who directed all operas during the season last October, will again wield the baton during the coming festival. Likewise, Alessandro D. Puglia, director of the Philadelphia Opera Company, is to repeat as stage director, included in the casts of the three operas are the following artists:

"Aida" — Charles Marshall, tenor, greatest tenor in the Chicago Opera Company, as Radames; Frances Peralta, soprano, as Aida; Louis D'Angelo, bass, Pharaoh; Amneris, mezzo-soprano, Merle Alcock; Italo Picchi, bass, Ramfis and Jose Mojica, tenor, messenger.

"Samson et Dalila" — Charles Marshall, tenor, and Cyrena Van Gordon, contralto, the latter well known for her excellent portrayal of Acuzena in "Il Trovatore" last year, will sing the title roles; Alfredo Gandolfi, baritone, high priest; Paolo Ananjan, bass, Abimelech; Italo Picchi, bass, aged Hebrew; Jose Mojica, tenor messenger; Mario Della Molle, tenor, First Philistine and Louis D'Angelo, bass, Second Philistine.

"The Barber of Seville" — Armand Tokatyan, tenor, Count Almaviva; Rosina, mezzo-soprano, Graziella Pareto; Bartolo, bass, Paolo Ananjan; Basilio, bass, Italo Picchi; Figaro, baritone, Mario Basiola and Bertha, soprano, Kathryn Browne.

A portion of the gross receipts of the operas will be given to the Columbus Baby Camp. Seats for the operas may be obtained at Baker's Music store, 123 South High Street, Columbus.

CHINESE STUDENTS HAVE ORIENTAL MEAL AT ANTIOCH COLLEGE

A group of Chinese students of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, cast studies aside and were hosts at a self prepared banquet at the home of one of their number, H. Lee Jones Thursday night.

The entertainment was entirely Oriental with the exception of dress. The Chinese effect was gained with the aid of strange oriental dishes, imported sauces, and other edibles of various concoctions, eaten to the strains of Chinese music.

Ching Wu Huang, leader of the group, a native of Shanghai, says a typical Chinese banquet consists of twenty-four courses, but the meal Thursday night included but five dishes, all of which are foreign to the American Chinese restaurant bill of fare.

The students are graduates of the Boxer Indemnity College, of Peking, China.

Huang declares that "Chinese cooking" was introduced in America for the first time about fifteen years ago, when a famous Chinese minister came to Washington, D. C., and found himself unable to digest American food. He began to serve Oriental dishes at his own table which gained such widespread popularity that an American Chinese restaurant resulted.

Chinese students participating in the banquet as hosts were Huang of Shanghai; Miss Constance Chang of Shanghai; Hain Lin of Szechuan; Minshin H. Chang of Hankow, and Lin Wang of Honan.

SUNDAY RALLY DAY AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday will be observed as Rally Day at the First Baptist Church. "This is an annual custom and it is hoped the people will respond this year to the call of the season," the Rev. R. E. Brown, pastor, said.

A program has been prepared by the pupils in the Sunday School and will be given beginning at 10 o'clock. The school will meet at 9:30 as usual for a short class session. At the conclusion of the program the pastor will preach on "Christ Culture."

The usual evening service will be held beginning at 7 o'clock. The pastor will discuss the question "Is Conversion Essential to a Christian Life?"

WRITING EXPERT IN DEMONSTRATION

C. B. Moore, a hand-writing expert from a Columbus firm, gave a hand-writing demonstration before an assemblage of grade children at Central High School Thursday.

Mr. Moore represents the firm from which various supplies needed in the Xenia public schools are purchased and teachers considered his personal demonstration of various writing lessons unusually instructive.

Mr. Moore repeated his demonstration before a group of elementary teachers at the high school Thursday evening.

The long and short of Boys Clothes Selling is still Value

When the first longie suits appeared on the Boys' Clothing horizon they were marked in the New York market at a long price and if a Mother wanted to see her son look cute in the new long trousers Father had to write a cute Pay-to-the-Order-Of.

When the first Xenia call came we went in search of a manufacturer who believed that a garment has no more appeal than its price ticket.

SMALL RED SPIDERS CAUSE GROWERS OF APPLES MORE WORRY

Red spiders of a species so small they can just about be seen with the naked eye, are adding another worry to apple growers this year, principally in northeastern Ohio. The pests work on the leaves and turn them rusty brown in color and in time check the vigor and growth of the tree.

Though not new in Ohio, according to C. S. Holland, horticulture field man at the Ohio State University, the red spiders this year are worse than usual in the northeastern counties. They have been noticed as far west as Ottawa County and as far south as Jefferson County.

Late in the summer the minute insects lay their eggs on the bud scales of the past season's growth. Mr. Holland explains, and hatch out in the spring as tree growth is starting. In some Ohio orchards it is possible to spot infected trees 50 yards away by the color of the leaves.

Early spring, when the spider eggs are hatching and the tree is beginning to grow, is the time to attack the spiders, the specialists suggest. The attack can be made with a 2 percent oil emulsion spray, a mixture sold by most spray manufacturers. Or, the spray can also be made on the farm. County agricultural agents can give detailed directions for making it.

DR. WATKINS SPEAKS AT LOCAL CHURCH

The importance of teachers appreciating the different temperaments of young people in Sunday School work, was stressed by Dr. A. S. Watkins, Cincinnati in his address at the First M. E. Church, Wednesday night.

The teacher that does not realize the difference in temperaments among young boys and girls will not be a success in teaching, he said. He urged a thorough knowledge of the Bible in teaching classes and compared the old and new method of teaching.

A large audience attended Dr. Watkins' address. He is prominently known in church work and was candidate for vice president on the Prohibition ticket a few years ago.

The service was held preparatory to Rally Day at the local church next Sunday and C. A. Bone, Sunday School superintendent, announced the program for the special day.

CHILDREN ADD TO SCHOOL SAVINGS

The school savings department of the Home Building and Savings Company was placed in operation in the public school system the second week of school and a total of $75.24 added to last year's account, according to H. C. Pendry, superintendent of city schools.

The savings department last year was so successful that the account totaled $3,605 at the end of the year. The fifth week of school this year found $80.96 added to the account.

Special emphasis is being placed on savings accounts and thriftiness again this year in the school system according to Superintendent Pendry. The co-operation of parents is asked.

A state law requires that at least thirty minutes each week be devoted to some form of teaching in thrift, and this program is being carried out in the schools in the manner thought best.
